Marist Education Policy

"I came that they may have life and have it to the full"

(John 10.10)

Cerdon College, a Marist school named after a little village in France where the Marist project began, exists to foster the full development of each student whatever her gifts, talents or special needs.

Marist education gains its spirit and special character from the person of Mary and therefore seeks to promote this personal growth within a happy, secure, family atmosphere.
